

Kendall Vegetation Management Becomes an ISA Canopy Partner

ATLANTA, Ga. – The International Society of Arboriculture (ISA) is pleased to announce that Kendall Vegetation Services (Kendall), a long-standing company that provides utility vegetation management services such as right-of-way clearing, storm restoration, and industry-wide education, will support the ISA through its Canopy Partners program.

The ISA Canopy Partners program is a powerful, global initiative that unites industry leaders to support ISA's mission to promote the professional practice of arboriculture, inform the public about tree benefits, and provide a network of arborists, urban foresters, and tree enthusiasts worldwide.

"We are thrilled to introduce our new ISA Canopy Partner—Kendall Vegetation Services," announced Caitlyn Pollihan, ISA's executive director and CEO. "Their decision to invest in ISA and align with our mission is commendable. Their support will enable ISA to continue promoting the profession and educating the public about the invaluable benefits of trees and the dedicated individuals who care for them."

For more than 60 years, Kendall has served large investor-owned utilities, rural electric cooperatives, municipalities, and the communities they power with ongoing vegetation management, right of way maintenance, and emergency storm response and restoration services.

"Kendall is strategically aligned with the ISA's efforts to elevate industry standards and drive innovation in tree care," said Kendall's Chief Executive Officer, Randolph Hoover. "Like ISA, we are dedicated to fostering a deeper understanding of the vital role trees play in our ecosystem."

Through the Canopy Partners program, ISA is committed to providing arborists with the necessary tools, services, and research to serve and educate the public and advance the profession and the tree care industry worldwide. This program also plays a crucial role in addressing critical environmental issues, influencing decision-makers and policymakers, and spreading valuable education and research while staying at the forefront of industry trends, innovation, and technology.
