

Team Member Introductions

Each month, our goal is to introduce a few of our amazing new team members through ISA Today. So, keep an eye out for the latest edition!

Trent Slaton
Learning Product Developer

Trent joined ISA in April as one of our learning product developers.

Previous to ISA, Trent served as the lead instructional designer at the Georgia Department of Human Services. He's also held instructional technology specialist roles at three different higher education institutions and one secondary education institution.

Trent specializes in the design and development of online learning geared toward meeting the needs of adult learners.

On a personal note:

Trent has three children, two of whom are currently attending Georgia State University. Go Panthers! He is very active with all three of his children and their dog.

Trent enjoys playing golf and working in his yard.

Shawna Armstrong joins ISA this month as our new graphic designer.

Previous to joining ISA, Shawna served as a digital and UX designer for Thrive Agency.

Shawna's career has been comprised of several other graphic designer roles in a wide variety of industries ranging from science to fashion.

Her marketing experience also includes event planning, social media and strategy.

Shawna Armstrong
Graphic Designer

On a personal note:

Shawna recently moved to Georgia from California and is passionate about the mission of ISA.

Science fiction literature is a love of Shawna's, and she feeds that passion through activities such as volunteer work for 'Multiverse Con,' an inclusive fan-focused convention celebrating science fiction and fantasy in all media. She serves as the volunteer marketing director for this conference.

Shawna also loves to hike and cook. She is an avid pet lover, especially her own cat, 'The Falcon.'
