Team Member Introductions

Each month, our goal is to introduce a few of our amazing new team members through ISA Today. So, keep an eye out for the latest edition!

Jamie joined ISA in September as the editorial and publishing manager.

Jamie came to ISA with a long history in the field of publishing, as well as professional editing and content development.

Jamie has worked for organizations such as the SANS Institute and Bookbright Media.

Jamie has worked domestically and abroad as an English as a second/foreign language instructor. He speaks English, Italian, Spanish and German. He has taught at Frieburg University and Sprachcenter Mouroum in Germany, as well as the Anglo American School in Italy and the Aspect, ILA in Chicago, Ill, USA.

Jamie Vidich
Editorial and Publishing Manager

On a personal note:
Jamie enjoys nature and loves to spend his free time bird watching. He volunteers for the Atlanta Audubon Society, and leads at least two bird walks per month. He also volunteers for Project Safe Flight Atlanta, an Atlanta Audubon Society initiative to survey bird casualties during migration.

Additionally, Jamie is studying for his Master Naturalist Certification through the University of Georgia. He also loves baking and gardening.

Kathy Brennan joined ISA as the director of educational products and services at the end of October.

Before ISA, Kathy worked in the field of research, evaluation and education for many years. She held roles such as the senior research and evaluation advisor for AARP, the director of evaluation for living cities and a consultant for organizations such as Goodwill Industries, Innovation Network and Anderson Consulting.

Kathy Brennan
Director of Educational Products and Services

On a personal note:
Kathy loves the outdoors and enjoys hiking. A fan of trees prior to joining ISA, Kathy volunteers for Trees Atlanta as a docent leading "Tree Walks" here in the city.

Kathy is also a painter and loves to paint large scale abstracts using acrylics.

Being fairly new to the area, Kathy is enjoying exploring the city and all the new and exciting things Atlanta has to offer.
